Thank you. I will update our site with alternative link and a note on possible security notice.

Yes, what a nightmare. Sorry this is happening.

Hello Ms. [REDACTED] Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP)

I have been given an alternative website to use until the actual docket website is back up. We are also going to extend the public comment period. I will send out an email to everyone on the contact list with the new comment deadline, once I know what that is.

Here is the temporary docket link:
<https://beta.regulations.gov/docket/EPA-R08-OW-2019-0512>

The first time I used this link, I got a security notice screen but was still able to access the beta website.

I apologize for this giant inconvenience! What a nightmare!

Hi Valois,

It's MONDAY!!

RE: Dewey Burdock public comment portal.

I just wanted to let you know that we've been using the link <https://www.regulations.gov/docket?D=EPA-R08-OW-2019-0512> to get the word out and it has been working up until this morning. I usually use Firefox browser, however today I received a notice and wasn't able to remedy it (Screen shot attached.). I was, however, able to use Safari and did submit my comment.

A colleague, who is using Outlook and also tried Explorer wasn't able to log on to the link either. Now this is very concerning since I'd imagine many people and their comment will be lost due to this technical issues.

Also, why does regulation.gov give cut off time at 11:59 PM ET and the EPA site at <https://www.epa.gov/uic/epa-dewey-burdock-class-iii-and-class-v-injection-well-draft-area-permits-2019> which gives the time as: Written comments must be received by midnight Mountain Standard Time on December 9, 2019.

Perhaps this comment period needs to be extended once again due to this technical issues and conflicting times given to the public.

Thanks Valois. I appreciate any information you can provide.

Yes. I think that is fair since that is what the IRS does.
Thanks for checking.

Hi Valois,

another quick question.. if people get their mail in comments on the Dewey-Burdock post marked on Monday, Dec. 9th will they be counted? Asking for a friend. :)

Respectfully,
